This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

THE following Catalogue originated in the compilation of a List of Books relating to Devonshire in a private Library; but it has been thought worthy of extension and of publication for the use of those who take an interest in the Topography, History, or Biography of the County, and as an accessory to the labours of future Historians.

An attempt has not been made to include works of general interest, though containing incidental or particular reference to Devonshire. Many of these, it is certain, comprise original matter of considerable value, but the list of such books would itself alone have extended to a volume perhaps as large as the present. This may be concluded by only adverting to the several Histories, Encyclopædias, Gazetteers, Dictionaries, and Peerages—the Archaeologia—the Vetusta Monumenta—the Philosophical Transactions of the Royal Society—the Gentleman's Magazine, and many other periodical works—the various books of Tours and Travels, Letters and Journals—the Reports of the Geological, Medical, and many other learned and scientific bodies—Law Reports—Parliamentary Papers, and Blue Books.

A short List will be found of temporary Periodical Works published in the County, which ought not to be forgotten, as, amongst a variety of ephemeral matter, they contain many scraps of local and biographical interest.

Digitized by Google

Where the size of a Book is not stated, it may be considered as octavo or smaller.

The initial letters, placed after the titles of the rare or curious books, indicate the Library in which a Copy of the Work is deposited, in accordance with the following list:—

B.M.	The British Museum.
L.	The London Institution.
W.	Dr. Williams' Library.
B.	The Bodleian.
B.O.	Balliol College, Oxford.
C.O.	Christ-Church, Oxford.
C.C.O.	Corpus Christi College, Oxford.
E.O.	Exeter College, Oxford.
J.O.	S. John's College, Oxford.
L.O.	Lincoln College, Oxford.
M.O.	Magdalen College, Oxford.
Q.O.	Queen's College, Oxford.
W.C.O.	Wadham College, Oxford.
W.O.	Worcester, College, Oxford.
C.H.C.	Catherine Hall, Cambridge.

T.C.	Trinity College, Cambridge.
U.C.	The University Library, Camb.
L.P.	The Public Library, Plymouth.
C.	Crediton Church Library.
P.	Private Library.

In such a work as the present, entire completeness can scarcely be hoped for. It will be seen that some few books are mentioned the exact titles of which have not been ascertained, and yet they may not be more rare than many others which have been found in our great National Library and other places.

Any additions or corrections as to books, dates, persons, or places, will be thankfully received.

J. D.

THE Chorographical Description or Survey of the County of Devon with the City and County of Exeter. Containing Matter of History, Antiquity, Chronology, the Nature of the Country, Commodities, and Government thereof: with sundry other things, worthy observation. Collected by the Travail of Tristram Risdon, of Winscot, Gent. For the Love of his Country and Countrymen in that Province.

London. E. Curll. 1714.

To this is added,

Some Account of the Family of the Spicers, extracted from an original Manuscript.

With a Frontispiece of two Coats of Arms and one print of the Exeter Conduit.

The same on large paper.

A CONTINUATION of the Survey of Devonshire. By Tristram Risdon, of Winscot, Gent. London. E. Curll. 1714.

The same on large paper.

The same, with the Print as a Frontispiece. London, 1723.

The same on large and small paper. Meres. London, 1725.

The same on large and small paper. London, 1733.

One or more of the numerous copies of Risdon's Work in MS. having fallen into the hands of the once notorious Bookseller and Auctioneer, E. Curll, the first edition in 1714 was about to be issued by him, but was so defective and erroneous that he found it needful to publish the Continuation also, which is by far the best part of the work. The whole, though professedly collated with several MSS. is extremely incorrect, much distorted, and in some parts almost unintelligible.

Owing to the trickery of the first and other publishers, it is scarcely possible to give a statement which may be relied on of the various issues of the Work since that period. It is even doubtful whether all the subsequent editions, so called, are not the original one under different forms and dates, with new Title-pages.

The Work sometimes appears in two volumes.—The account of the Spicer Family is variously placed, at the beginning, the middle, and the end, and is sometimes omitted. Some copies have the Exeter Conduit as a Frontispiece. In some, a portion of the Work was reprinted with a new Title-page, and some are professedly another edition in quarto, but are only large paper copies cut into that shape.

THE Chorographical Description or Survey of the County of Devon. By Tristram Risdon. Printed from a genuine Copy of the original Manuscript; with considerable additions. London, 1811.

Fifty copies of this edition were printed on medium 4to and 50 on royal paper. This, the last edition of Risdon's Work, is by far the best. It was edited by Mr. Rees of Plymouth, the publisher, on a comparison of several manuscript copies, of which as many as sixteen, more or less perfect, are believed to exist in various libraries, public and private. The introductory remarks signed J. T., and the account of Dartmoor, were written by Mr. John Taylor, of Holwell near Tavistock, an eminent Mining Engineer. Dr. Woollcombe of Plymouth and the Rev. J. Swete of Orton, gave some assistance to the work. The additional matter to this edition amounts to about a fourth part of the volume.

A COMPLEAT History of Devon containing the Geographical Description in Alphabetical Order, the Ecclesiastical History, the Civil History, the National History, the Literary History, the Antiquities, &c., with the Value of the Livings, the Patrons, &c., with a Map of the County. By Robert Morden. 4to. 1730. B.

Issued in parts. Devon is paged 465 to 547.

THE Honest London Spy. Part 3. The Pleasant and Comical Humours of Honest Humphrey, in Dialogues between an Obliging Husband and an Imperious Wife; between Mr. Wilmot a West Country Clothier at Crediton, undone by a Peacock, a Gentleman of good Fortune in Exeter, and honest Humphrey his Man, &c., discoursing how extravagant Wives consume their Husbands' Estate and bring them to ruin. Frontispiece. 1731. P.

This is a Specimen of the Dialect of Devon.

AN Exmoor Scolding; in the Propriety and Decency of Exmoor Language, between two Sisters, Wilmot Moreman and Thomasin Moreman, as they were spinning. 4to. Exeter, 1746. B.

EXMOOR Courtship; or a suitoring Discourse in the Devonshire Dialect and mode near the Forest of Exmoor. 4to. Exeter, 1746.

There is another Dialogue in this Dialect in the Gentleman's Magazine for 1746.

AN Exmoor Scolding, &c. Also an Exmoor Courtship, &c. Sixth edition. Exeter, 1768.

This edition has the date "1668" in error.

A seventh edition, with an historical Preface, Notes, and a Glossary. Exeter, 1771. E.O.

An eighth edition. Exeter, 1771.

Another edition with a collateral Paraphrase. 1793. B.

Another. Exeter, 1794.

Another: with a translation into plain English. Exeter, 1795.

Another. Exeter, 1802.

Another: a reprint of the seventh edition in 1771. Exeter, 1818.

Another. Exeter, 1830.

Another. A reprint of the eighth edition in 1771. London, 1839.

These effusions of coarse wit and coarser ideas, though attributed to Exmoor, are in the language, now happily almost obsolete, of the North of Devon, where the scenes are laid.

AN Address to the Gentlemen and others of the County of Devon. 1748. T.C.

A SERIOUS Address to the Members of an Arthurite Club in Devonshire. 1749.

AN Act for raising a Sum of Money by a County Rate, for purchasing a proper Prison for Debtors, in the County of Devon. 1753.

A COMPLETE History of all the Religious Houses in the Counties of Devon and Cornwall, before the Dissolution, &c. By the Rev. William Jones, A.B. London, 1779.

THE Rights and Principles of an Englishman considered and asserted in a Review of the late Motion at the Hotel for a County Meeting in Devonshire. 1780. P.

By J. Short, of Exeter, Esq.

THESAURUS Ecclesiasticus Provincialis; or a Survey of the Diocese of Exeter, &c. 4to. Exon, 1782.

A REVIEW of Part of Risdon's Survey of Devon; containing the general Description of that County; with corrections, annotations, and additions. By the late William Chapple of Exeter. 4to. Exeter, 1785.

The progress of this Work was stopped by the death of the Author. It reached only to the end of the "General Description." 40 pages of the "Chorographical Description" were printed but never published. Chapple's MSS. are in the Library of Sir L. Palk, at Haldon House.

PROPOSALS addressed to the Gentlemen, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Devon for establishing a fund for the discharge and relief of persons imprisoned for small debts. 4to. 1788.

(AN Address) To the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of Exeter, and the Justices of Peace of the County of Devon. By Denys Rolle, Esq. 4to. Exeter, (1790?) P.

HISTORICAL Views of Devonshire. Vol. 1. By Mr. Polwhele of Polwhele in Cornwall. Exeter, 1793.

This volume relates only to the British period of our History, and its substance, greatly condensed, was given in the subsequent History of Devonshire by this Author.

THE History of Devonshire. By the Rev. Richard Polwhele. Fol. 3 vols. Map, 24 Plates. Exeter, 1793—1806.

The proposals for this Work, its form, its progress, and its contents, afforded subjects for much discussion in the Gentleman's Magazine, and other periodical works, from the year 1789 to the close of its publication.

A JOURNEY into Cornwall, &c. By George Lipscomb. Warwick, 1799.

A large portion of this Book relates to Devon.

MISCELLANEOUS Observations in the course of two Tours, through several parts of the West of England, &c. By M. Dunsford, Merchant. Portrait. Tiverton, 1800.

THE Wonder of this Age: or God's Miraculous Revenge against Murder: Being a Relation of an undoubted Truth out of the West. How the Skull of a Person (murdered about Thirty years agoe, in an Inn) was found with a Linnen Cap thereon, still whole, with the two Letters wherewith it was marked, plain to be seen; though it had lain so many years in the Earth. How likewise an Apparition oblig'd one that was lately come to live in that House to divulge it; telling him where he might find Money, and promising that God would provide Witnesses to make good the Prosecution; or otherwise that it, viz. The Ghost, would itself appear at the Assizes. As also, how a Woman that had in those dayes been a servant there, being now Examined; and denying upon Oath, that she knew any thing of the business was suddenly smitten, and Dyed. With the Confession of another Servant still alive, and other very wonderful Circumstances. The Truth of this Relation will be attested by many Whole-sale Men that were at the Lent Fair at Exeter, it being the common Discourse of those parts. And now, upon the Licenser's Enquiry, since the writing of this Paper, the Particulars have been verifi'd by divers other Persons, and by one that affirms he was present at the Examination.

TO His Highness the Lord Protector, and to the Parliament of England. 4to. (No place or date.) B.M.

This is a letter without signature, written apparently by a Quaker, giving a curious account of Gloucester Cathedral. An engraved Frontispiece represents a Church, with its interior visible, struck by lightning and the congregation scattered. Beneath it is the following inscription, "A most prodigious and fearefull Storme of winde lightning and thun- "der mightily defaceing Withicomb Church in Devon burning and slayeing diverse men "and women all this in service-time on the Lord's day Oct. 21, 1638."

This plate seems to have been intended for one or the other of the two following tracts, but it has not been found affixed to any copy of either of them.

POLITICAL HISTORY.

HISTORICAL TRACTS, 1549 to 1690.

The following list of works relating to the County of Devon during a stormy period of our history, is the result of long and diligent search through many libraries. The investigation of the catalogues alone of the more than 40,000 tracts relating to this era in the British Museum is, itself, an arduous task, and after all is not entirely satisfactory. In many instances the titles of books, in accordance with the periphrastical taste of the times, are very wide of the information contained in them, and a few leaves often embrace scraps of intelligence from several quarters of the Kingdom; so that the historian who is in search of minute points of record, must not be content to run over a catalogue, but must be prepared to toil through a vast extent of dusty lore. The papers regular and occasional, with news real or conjectural, which appeared during the civil war, and afterwards, till the waters of strife had subsided, were almost innumerable. Many of them are thoroughly disgusting, not only by the violent spirit of partisanship, but by the grossness of their language—

> "In countless myriads swarming from the press
> Like Egypt's insects from the mud of Nile."

Specimens of more than seventy periodical news-letters have been found, of which some ran a course of a few years, while others perished on coming into the light of day. About forty of them bear the title of a "Mercury" of one quality or other, enough to record the wisdom, wit, and wickedness, not only of the Herald of Olympus, but of all the family. For instance, we have Mercurius Aulicus, M. Belgicus, M. Civicus, M. Rusticus, M. Clericus, M. Poeticus, M. Militaris, M. Melancholicus, M. Domesticus, &c., &c.; and besides them were the occasional tracts, among which the following come within our compass. Collections of such as these lie hid in great numbers among the treasures of learning and literature in the libraries of many of the Colleges at Oxford and Cambridge, but in some instances they are all but inaccessible; not only in consequence of the ancient restrictions on the time and manner of consulting the libraries, but because the tracts are not separately entered in catalogues, and have no kind of reference to them.

This rare and curious book was written by John Hicks, Minister at Kingsbridge. In Dr. Calamy's Nonconformists' Memorial is a remarkable account of an interview which the Author had with King Charles the Second, and of the conversation which passed on the subject of this book, with the results of it. See Palmer's edition 1775, vol. I. p. 288.

At pages 31 and 32 of one copy of this work twenty-one lines of the original text have been attempted to be cancelled by a substituted paragraph pasted over them.

THE Case of the County of Devon with respect to the Consequences of the new Excise Duty on Cyder and Perry, &c.
4to. London, 1763. B.M.

By Benjamin Heath, Recorder of Exeter.

The oppressive Excise Duty of four shillings a Hogshead, on Cyder, to be paid by the maker of it, which was imposed by the Government in the year 1763, occasioned a great ferment in the Counties of Devon and Hereford, and gave rise not only to several large meetings of the people, but to a great number of most violent attacks both in prose and verse on Lord Bute the prime minister of the day. Dr. Heath took an active and influential, but calm and determined, part against the impost, and became very popular in consequence. The House was beset with petitions, and the duty, not being found so productive as was expected, was shortly afterwards repealed.

The Event on which several foregoing Ballads were founded was one which made a great sensation at the time, and, according to Collier, formed the subject of a Drama, entitled "The lamentable Tragedy of Page of Plymouth." Page, who was a rich merchant and a penurious man, resided in Woolster Street, in a house called the Mayoralty, which was taken down when the Guildhall was rebuilt. His Wife, Ulalia, is said to have belonged to Tavistock, as did also her paramour and the maid-servant who shared their crime and punishment. Tradition recites the particulars of the tale to this day, but the assertion that Mrs. Page was a daughter of Judge Glanville could scarcely be the fact, and that he passed the sentence of death on her is not true. Prince mentions his four daughters by other names, and makes no mention or reference to so remarkable a circumstance. Glanville was made Serjeant-at-Law only in 1590, the year of this transaction; and it was Judge Anderson who tried the prisoners. The similarity, perhaps the identity, of name gave rise to the report. In one of the ballads Mr, Page's maiden name is stated to have been Glansfield, and the family may have been related to that of the Serjeant. He was present at the trial, which took place at Barnstaple, the Assizes being held there in consequence of the plague having broken out at Exeter. The following are extracts from the town records of Barnstaple with reference to this Assize.—"1589. March. Great pvison making for holding ye Assizes in this towne.—"The places for the Judges to sit in, one against the key hall, and the other by the North "end of Mr, Collibear's house, both covered with rcede.—There come hither but 1 judge "Ld Anderson he came to town the monday in the afternoon; to the key hall place there "read the commission, charged the grand jury and adjourned.—The tuesday the Judge, Ld "Bath, & other gent. dined with Mr. Maior.—Martyne, the goaler, kept some of his pri-"soners in house late Bailiff's, & others in Castle Green, under tyltes with sayles.—Judge "lodged at Mr. Doddridge's, Sheriff at Mawdlene, Serjt. Drue at Gill. Harris, Serjt. Glan-"dyl at Roger Cades, Serjt. Harrys at Mr. W. Collibear's, Mr. Heale at Mr. Welche's "house.—Rest of the lawyers accomodated elswhere.—Tuesday sat on nisi prius. Wed-"nesday by 5 o'clock, the judge tried ii or iii causes of nisi prius, and then upon the goal, "and gave judgment upon those who were to be executed. Friday and Saturday sat on "nisi prius & ended. The gibbet was set up on the Castle Green and xviii prisoners hanged, "whereof iiij of Plymouth, for a murder." The Parish Register of Barnstaple contains the following entry,—"Here followeth the names of them Prysoners wich were Buryed in "the Church yearde of Barnistaple ye syce (Assize) week. March 1590.—George Stronge-"withe, Buryed the xxth daye—Vlalya Page, Buryed at Bishope tawton ye xxth daye." The names of seven other men are added, but no other woman. See Mrs. Bray's "Traditions of Devonshire," vol. II. pp. 316, 326, and Gribble's "History of Barnstaple," p. 620.

BIOGRAPHY AND FAMILY HISTORY.

SOME Books will be found noticed under this head which would not strictly be styled Biographical, such as funeral Sermons and works which have introductory biographical notices; but it has not been thought fit to adhere so closely to rule as to exclude them, seeing that they will often be found to comprise the best, and sometimes the only, particulars to be gained respecting an individual person. As to some great public men, such as Monk and Marlborough, the pamphlets relating to their political lives, with speeches and addresses to them, are, as might be expected, almost innumerable. Those among them which are here noticed are, with few exceptions, such as are rare, and such as relate to the personal and private life of the individual, or to events connected with this County in particular.

This is a denunciation of John Tutchin, a political writer, who was sentenced by Jeffreys, on the bloody Assize, to be whipped through all the market towns of Dorsetshire (not Devonshire), yearly, for seven years. He obtained a pardon and lived to advocate liberty in licentious language. Pope in the Dunciad thus perpetuates his name—

"Careless on high stood unabash'd, De Foe,
And Tutchin, flagrant from the scourge, below."

The Observator was begun in 1702 and called forth many animadversions, reproofs, and Letters.
